

100 YEAR PLAN

Synchronizing People To Make Miracles Happen!

Alex Hernandez

Hello!

If you don't know me already, my name is Alex Hernandez. I was born December 13, 1977 in what is known as the East Side of San Jose, CA. Like you, I've overcome countless obstacles in my life; from a destructive neighborhood filled with negative drug and gang influences, to obesity, to single parenthood, to near business bankruptcy.

My entire life I've felt as if I have been jumping hurdles for a reason, and in the last few years (2002 - 2005) these reasons have become apparent to me as I have searched for and continue to find not only truth in the world but also spiritual truth.

In the early part of this decade I created a 100 year plan for my life as well as this summarized outline of it. In this 100 year outline I've not only listed a few of my business goals, but also some personal and worldly goals that I see as my mission and legacy in this life time. Although some of them may seem a bit vague, it is only because I have not decided exactly what role I would like to play in my contribution. These decisions will come in time.

Many people have asked me after reading my 100 year plan if I actually plan on living to be 125 years old, and the answer is YES. I've also been asked by skeptics exactly how I plan on achieving these seemingly impossible feats in one lifetime.

My answer: I'll leave that up to the Universe to figure out and take the steps as they appear!*

Many blessings of success and happiness in your life,
Alex Hernandez

* I use the word "Universe" to be all inclusive because I respect the fact that many people have many different beliefs. Please feel free to insert your preferred name for our higher power.

My Mission Statement

My mission this lifetime is to devote my existence and focus the attention of my consciousness on healing our planet and all its inhabitants.

My blessing of life shall be committed to the contribution of cleaning up pollution, saving endangered species, saving rainforests, ending world hunger, providing for world peace, promoting love and healing for all people of the world, ending poverty, and raising the collective consciousness of the world.

My contributions to the world will be made by educating the youth of the world to create more love, respect, awareness, and accountability in future generations, helping others to live happy and fulfilling lives, teaching business success and abundance to eliminate scarcity mentalities, and contributing financially to charitable organizations that are making an ongoing difference in the world for the better.

If I had to live my life over

I would have cherished every moment with my daughter and embraced her affection always.

I would have pursued everything I wanted in life without fear or self imposed limitations.

I would have enjoyed and embraced every moment in life with care freeness and bliss.

I would have had complete faith in every moment of chaos and uncertainty.

I would have been more humble and grateful for every blessing I received.

I would have had more patience with family and those that tested it.

I would have created more abundance for myself and others.

I would have made a bigger difference in the lives of others.

I would have lived every moment passionately.

I would have loved unconditionally.

I only have one shot in this lifetime
and I choose to do it now!
